LOS ANGELES, CA., June 22, 2012 – For the first time, smokers in the United Kingdom will be able to purchase Quit Tea, the natural stop smoking aid, in Great British Pounds. PharmacyAtHand.co.uk is a NHS Registered, online pharmacy serving both its local community, UK, and Europe, through the internet. Here is the Quit Tea page: <http://www.pharmacyathand.co.uk/gbu0-prodshow/Quit-Tea-Stop-Smoking-Start-Sipping-20-Tea-Bags.html>

PharmacyAtHand.co.uk sells over 20 other quit smoking treatments that include nicotine replacement in patches, gums, lozenges, and electronic cigarettes. Quit Tea is the first alternative smoking cessation treatment available for sale on their website. With the typical exchange rate, Quit Tea would be £8.99 including VAT, but PharmacyAtHand.co.uk is offering Quit Tea for £7.99 including VAT as an introductory sale price.

This sales development comes after a string of recent exposure for Quit Tea in the UK market. QuitFullStop.co.uk is one of the leading online smoking cessation information websites in the world. They recently listed Quit Tea on their “Quit Methods” page along with nicotine replacement and other pharmaceutical methods of quitting. And a NHS Smokers Clinic in East London is providing samples of Quit Tea to their patients. You can see a quick blog posting they wrote about Quit Tea here: <http://thesmokersclinic.blogspot.com/2012/02/quit-tea.html>

Now that Quit Tea is available for sale in the United Kingdom, this makes the fourth country where it is available. Quit Tea was already in over 100 health food stores and pharmacies across the United States, it is distributed in Chile, and sold in health food stores and health clinics in Canada. With already much more demand from Australia and a potential deal to distribute in Costa Rica, Quit Tea is shaping up to be an international success.
