

Quit Tea Natural Stop Smoking Aid Receives Professional Recommendation

New Natural Stop Smoking Aid Quit Tea Provides Effective Alternative to Pharmaceutical Smoking Cessation Aids, Endorsed By Professionals.

LOS ANGELES, CA., May 20, 2011 – Quit Tea, the natural stop smoking aid, has received an official professional endorsement. “This is a good product I will continue to tell my clients about” says Leeanne Taylor, a licensed drug and alcohol counselor with a private practice in Bangor, Maine, who specializes in smoking cessation.

Ms. Taylor received free samples of Quit Tea as part of the Quit Tea LLC's local Maine smoking cessation professional detailing program. She said “since that time I have given clients a tea bag and the website so they could get some of their own. The majority of these clients have gotten their tea and have reported using it when they had a craving for a cigarette. I have only heard good things from them about how it reduced or took away cravings.”

The professional smoking cessation counselor detailing program has been massively successful in gaining exposure and credibility for Quit Tea as an effective natural alternative to nicotine replacement therapy or other pharmaceutical options for smoking cessation. Many other smoking cessation counselors in Maine continue to provide samples of Quit Tea to their clients or groups, but have not yet given a written endorsement. Maine is the first state Quit Tea LLC has done this program in, but is planning to expand the detailing and providing samples to professionals in other states in the coming months.

Quit Tea has only been available for sale online since May 2010, and in health food stores and pharmacies nationwide since November 2010, but has already gained broad approval and appeal with chiropractors, acupuncturists, and others. Chiropractors and acupuncturists across the United States and Canada often stock Quit Tea in their offices to supplement their practice for smoking cessation.
